

SAFEGUARDING VULNERABLE ADULTS FROM ABUSE TRAINING

Who Is The Course For?

- Managers and front line staff working with vulnerable adults in any care or support setting (Registered with C.S.C.I., Supporting People funded etc), including staff undertaking NVQ awards

Why Choose Faiers Training?

- Faiers Training uses nineteen years of experience in the care & support sector to deliver training that is both professional & practical
- Rather than deliver generic off the shelf courses, Faiers Training works closely with your organisation to tailor the course to your service. The course reinforces policies and procedures you already have in place and reflects the environment in which you operate.

COURSE CONTENTS

- What is Abuse?
- Vulnerability What is it & Why are some more vulnerable than others?
- Types of Abuse (e.g. Physical, sexual, financial, psychological, institutional, discriminatory, neglect etc) with examples of each
- Standards of professional conduct (I seek throughout the course to ensure a healthy balance is maintained between examining abusive models and considering positive ways of working and good practice)
- Signs of Abuse - What to look out for & making judgements in “grey” areas
Dealing with suspected abuse (This links with the Adult Abuse and Child Protection procedures of your organisation and the Administering Authority in which you operate)
- Key steps in responding to allegations of abuse - including the DO's and DON'Ts and how to support a service user who is disclosing abuse
- Working Safely (This focuses on how we need to look after ourselves as experience suggests that the majority of abusive ways of working involve decent people who have either taken on too much or allow boundaries to become blurred during times of stress)
