

Staff Supervision

Who should attend this one day course

Anyone involved in supervision of staff

Introducing the Trainer

Faiers Training works exclusively with people who have an excellent reputation and proven track record in their field. The course tutor is an independent psychiatric (and general) nurse. He divides his working time between providing an in-house mental health service to the NHS patients of a large GP surgery and providing training and consultancy services to the care, support and health sectors.

Aims of the course:

As a result of attending participants should be able to:

- Understand the benefits of supervision for workers, clients and the organisation
- Describe what supervision is and is not
- Use reflective techniques to underpin their work
- Have a thorough knowledge of the various functions, purposes and appropriate topics of supervision
- List the various ways of obtaining and providing supervision
- Demonstrate practical skills necessary for effective supervision, including motivational, supportive, interpretative and listening skills
- Reflect on their personal training needs so as to be an effective provider (and/or recipient) of supervision
- Form ideas for a plan for implementing or expanding supervision in their place of work
